

GREENBERG
ATTORNEYS AT LAW
TRAURIG

John C. Kirkland
310.586.7786
kirklandj@gtlaw.com

May 20, 2002

By E-Mail and U.S. Mail

Ms. Donna Wentworth
Berkman Center for Internet & Society
Harvard Law School
Pound Hall 511
1563 Massachusetts Avenue
Cambridge, MA 02138

Re: Demand for Correction

Dear Ms. Wentworth

Pursuant to California Civil Code Section 48a, you are hereby notified that the statements contained in the article entitled "A Case Study of Domain Registrations by Swarthmore Associates and John Kirkland," posted on the Berkman Center for Internet & Society website by Ben Edelman at <http://cyber.law.harvard.edu/people/edelman/biz-sunrise/>, falsely asserting that the referenced domains are "Mr. Kirkland's domains" or "his domains," are claimed to be libelous.

Demand is hereby made that the same be corrected. If a correction is not immediately published in substantially as conspicuous a manner as were the statements claimed to be libelous, you may be liable for general, special and exemplary damages.

The correction requirement will be waived if the article is removed from your website within 24 hours of your receipt of this letter.

Sincerely,

John C. Kirkland

JCK/kb

\\LA-SRV01\136328v02